Cubes is a real 2.5D shoot 'em up game in which the playing field is a huge cube with 30 seconds limitation. You can choose from different units and battle cards to eliminate blocks all over the playing field. What's new in this version: Game statistics and items upgrades in database. Fixes: - Fixed a bug in the sidebar. - Fixed a bug in the game menu. - Fixed a bug in game leaderboard. Uhh, I have a question, your forums are powered by vBulletin right? So I have a question, you guys advertise yourself as a premium website but how can I use it? I've never used a vBulletin forum before and was wondering if the owners actually pay for a premium package or is it some kind of "free account" with added packages? Because one thing is really annoying - after looking at your website and forums and seeing it's a premium website, I've used Firefox and it says its running slow for some reason but when I go to the link in my browser, it states that it's free? I know I've installed spybot and other adware and stuff before and it wouldn't let me access the forums or website because of adware and stuff? So I thought maybe your forums and website are "premium" but I don't really get it if this is the case. Sorry for the long question but I just don't want to pay for something and get all the spam which won't let me visit the forums.

Reminder : Silas M. is dealing with the Paypal-gate issue, and its server (foster.wurtel.net) is currently offline. As soon as it's back we will move all our files to new server, and wait for Foster to sort their mess. In case you're affected by this...RENAME ALL FILES nd LOST CONTACTS to "foster.wurtel.net" (ex: "item #" to "item #foster.wurtel.net")... This is the new error message you'll see. If you copied files from another account, you should change all the file names (directory listing) and content too. If you still get this message after this procedure, message the giver, and I will look into it. Notice : DCC File Share has issues with their servers. - Mason Marks from The Adversary Anti-spam measures are in place, and it's easy to ignore the little notice at the top of our emails. The U.S. Libertarian Party was founded 25 years ago in July by William F. Buckley, Jr., L. Brent Bozell and Dr. Robert C. Williams. Even then (early 1980's), we knew we didn't want to file as a political party since our 'brand' name already existed. Liberal media outlets, liberal academics, civil libertarians, and dishonest politicians had adopted the label 'Libertarian' for decades. Over time, journalists started to mock the 'Libertarian' designation, and it got widely associated with some really stupid nonsense. Today, the word 'Libertarian' is once again being used correctly, and a new generation of young people is discovering it.

The LP is continuing our tradition to run candidates for federal office as independent party, and unlike Republicans and Democrats our ideas fit under one label. Although the LP has never had a popular majority nationally, sometimes (usually) the Libertarian Party wins the popular vote for President. A far cry from the,. This year at the LP Convention we elected delegates. We have a unique system where delegates have to spend more time speaking at the Convention than at their own Party events. Delegates are elected for a term, but that term is probably the most time consuming and intense election anyone experiences in their life. This is the first year I have run for office. I was elected as a delegate, and had an incredible time at Convention. It was the longest and most intense election process I have ever been involved in. I will keep my promise of an idea or two to bite the bullet. It is sort of a waste of time to talk about ideas and never actually implement them. Ideas are just artifacts of thought. Too many people pursue an endless parade of ideas without implementation. Mason has been feuding with me since early November. A couple of dozen stories ago on his blog, and six of them today, he questioned or blamed me for what happened to him a couple of years ago: I was in a blissfully-numb state when many of these events took place, and I was sure we had turned a corner, but it is now that I realize that I am alone in this. I was the victim of violence, mostly because I made a questionable decision ( types. All the standard weapons are available, and new ones can be unlocked. > Realistic damage and debris physics, destructible environments, lots of effects and sound effects bring the game to life. Gorgeous special effects, in particular, make Battlezone 2 a very immersive experience. > The first game had you play out the scenario as a player, here you get to control a commander of the human forces fighting against the hordes of your robot enemies. New for this year's edition is a single-player campaign where the player has a set objective, and takes their course of battle from the first level of the game through to the final ending. It's an epic conclusion to a groundbreaking game. > Rebellion Developments is renowned for the Sniper Elite and Sherlock Holmes series of games, as well as the various PC games it has published under the Atari name.

> Players choose a class from up to four different classes - Assault, Air, Support, or Engineer - for their commander. The game features unique customisable ground and air vehicles, as well as a wide variety of weapons available to the player to choose from. > From strategic defence and attacking positions, to minefields and rocket pits, each level has its own feel and style. The gameplay experience is enhanced by the various terrain types and special effects, such as the opening, weather and night, lighting changes. Up to six AI-
